Dear Diary,
Surprisingly, I have woken up and I go downstairs as quick as a flash. I went to eat a nutritious breakfast, salad. Immediately, I went to have a quick wash and dress. I went to get my all of my things that I need. I say goodbye and leave.

I am so sad I constantly keep thinking of mixed emotions. Am I ready for this trip? Will it be worth it? Will I get on nicely? I am sad and happy at the same time. I have never before accrued such and daring, new adventure. I really even have adventures.

Without warning, I entered the large boat. ~~Surprisingly, I~~ ~~walked around~~, exploring the whole boat with the other people. It was nothing at like my lovely warm home. There was a deck ^{at the back} on the ^{whole} boat and a bellow deck. We had a big sail with bedrooms as dull as tents, there was a kitchen and a care room. Without a sound, the boat started moving. Eventually, I started to rest. Three hours later I started drawing with my workmates. I made lovely friendships with them. We saw many things to draw in our notebooks.

We have heard eaten dinner, we had hot chicken. As quick as a flash, I went to sleep. The bed had one blanket with a pillow on the wall. I woke up, as still and confused as a kitten. I jumped down from the bed and went to the deck with my pen and notebook. Quite amused, we were already unbearable animals, small or big but I cowered. As thing I saw. Without delay, I ran as fast as my could, flabbergasted of what I was seeing at that moment. I quickly entered the bedroom and woke up. They went upstairs and they were shocked. For the many inpatient days we were in.

very happily, we and my friends stood on a cold thick ice. I quickly explored things that never seen before. I saw dogs but big, gray fur big black things that had tails and floppy wiskers. I also saw creatures that had a white tummy yellow feet and a pointy cone on their face.
See a black big shadow with white spots. a giant wave and disappearing. I was scared at the same time.
