We are learning to identify and select a purpose for our writing.

As ~~I~~ ^{you} looked over the side of the boat I ^{you} ~~saw~~ ^{will see} all the amazing fish that the amazon held in its grasp. As you look ^{up} ~~up~~ ^{you} ~~you~~ ^{would see} ~~branches~~ ^{so many} ~~of~~ ^{branches} ~~of~~ ^{branches} creating bridges from tree to tree. The leaves were as green as a pea. ~~When~~ ^{When} the boat glided through the water you would see the sloth which is as slow as a ^{clock ticking} ~~zombie~~.

As ^{you} ~~I~~ ^{you} walked through this damp earthy place, I hear parrots squawking and the gushing of rapid waters bashing on the rock. As ~~the~~ ^{the} monkeys (rapidly) swing from vine to vine, ~~the~~ ^{they} glow as quick as a leopard sunning. If you stumble along the ~~beautiful~~ ^{beautiful} ruins of Brazil you will immediately see the exotic colorful fish of this amazing place.

^{Exotic}
The ~~amazing~~ animals of the amazon will blow your mind. The local indians of Brazil have adapted very well to this savage place. The ^{multiple} ~~multiple~~ ^{multiple} macaws and ~~the~~ ^{the} parrots of ~~the~~ ^{the} Brazil have ^{multiple} ~~multiple~~ ^{multiple} colors, as they fly over you see the beauty of these animals. While you're having a good time, that won't last for long: as the wandering spider crawls along the floor it can strike at any minute killing you in under 30 seconds being known as the most dangerous spider in the world.
