Rose Blanche grieved, "I could not believe my eyes, this was terrible. These poor innocent young & children and men did & not deserve to be in this situation."

caught by the general. His face was bright red and tears were rippling down his cheeks. He reported, "I was, ~~sed and am~~ sad and confuse". I felt light-headed. I was caught by the soldiers and did not ~~didn't~~ know what to say. I thought I was going to be killed."

The innocent boy had been sobbing hoping that ever since he had been

We are learning to use a range of punctuation.

Everyone has the same rights. Scientific ^{research} shows that in our world today people have the same rights, but people are not treating the same. Everyone is human, we all have the same feelings. ~~This world has been made by humans~~, but we are the people who made this world, but some people are not being treated fairly. Think about how you would want to be treated, we then treat the ~~same~~ ^{other people} the same.

Different Gender:
Women do not have the same rights ^{women do not have} ~~the same~~. The governments are positively discriminating against women. ^{Research} ~~Research~~ shows that many women around the world are being treated as slaves.

Soon everyone will be treated the same even if they are a different gender or race. One day this will be a reality. We will all have the same opportunity opportunities in the world. How can we?

Different beliefs:

Even if we have different beliefs or religions everyone is unique but we are all human. Scientists show that half of the world's people who live here believe in Santa Clause is real. ^{Historians} also said that there have been a hundred wars about people's beliefs in God. These wars caused discrimination against ^{those} people who do or look different.

Doing Different things:

Research shows that a quarter of the world has people who work in the summer. Even though people are different (and we are all different) does not mean we should be treated different. People have found out that when someone is treated different because of how they look, they never want to be with anyone ever again. They are being bullied because of what they do, this will be noticeable in your local area. We need to stop it.

Everyone has a benefit to change our ways and improve our world. We all have to play a part in our journey through life. Everyone should make everyone's life the best one they would ever wish for. Even the poor should have an amazing life. We need to make this the best world it can be. Everyone needs to become the ^{best} people we can be. When you find someone who is not being treated ^{fairly} help them, be the best person you can be. We need to help; -not resist. For example, you could cross the road to help. Contain yourself and help them. How can we change this world? We will. People think that is will not help change the world.
