We are learning to identify the audience and purpose of our writing, effectively selecting the appropriate genre.

This house believes that violence can be justified.

I am not writing a one sided arguement I am for the arguement. You will get both sides after you have read this. I will now tell you what violence means. Violence means someone that is attacking someone else physically. I shall define justified. Justified means that something is fair. It can means it is something is ok. or not ok. For example the can play the violin.

Now I will say my first point. My first point is about entertainment people Entertainment is my first point. My eg example is that someone and someone else fight in a ring there is a referee to make sure everyone follows the rules. My explanation is that when there is a referee anything is safe. It is the persons choice to fight because no one will force. They will encourage you. Thus the fighting entertainment is justified.
