We are learning to use appropriate punctuation

Long ago in a little ~~so~~ cottage, there lived a girl called Ella. She was forced to live with her ~~step~~ ^{cruel} step sister and step mother because her father ~~was~~ ^{unfortunately} died. Ella ~~is~~ has been ~~doing~~ ^{doing} all the work in the house.

One day when Ella was scrubbing the floor, the door bell rang. It was a posh surprise. A letter to the ball. Ella struck with excitement and joy she asked her mother please can I go please she begged and begged but no. Then she started to cry in the garden, a magical surprise a fairy god mother said you can go but be home before 12 o'clock.

Ella was very ^{so} pretty she was so pretty the charming prince danced with her. Ella's sisters and mother did ~~not~~ ^{not} go now them, all the girls in the ball were very jealous and ran out of the ball.

P.B.T.: commas, bracket and dashes

Ella was so pretty at the ball, ~~at~~ ^{in fact,} ~~factually~~ she was the prettiest ~~out~~ ^{out} of them all. (She looked like a princess). Then a prince

(Edward) loved Ella so he ask to dance with him. After the clock struck 12 she ran out of the fairy palace.
