Odysseus and his crew visited King ~~Andor~~ ^{The king} Aodelas. He gave Odysseus a sack and then said, "Zeus took the wind power away from Poseidon; I would like you to take it when you are on ^{your} ~~this~~ ship, open the bag." Odysseus took the sack but did not tell his crew. ^{an unusual choice for him but he} ~~Odysseus tells his crew everything.~~ understood the value of that sack.

The crew got on the boat and left, they traveled three days and nights trying to get home, Odysseus was near the sack at all time, protecting the bag. He did ~~not~~ not know what lied within it but he knew he had to not let the power get to Poseidon. (One of the crew members) said "I wonder why he is so attached to that sack?"

They sailed for hours before seeing Ithaca. Odysseus fell asleep with the bag next to him. The boat rocked left to right and the sack landed on Jimmy's lap. He turned to John saying, "Shall I open it?" before John could reply Jimmy pulled the ribbon and a gust of wind came out.

Odysseus woke up but before he could do anything Poseidon had the power; he made a big whirlpool sucking the ship in. Jagg said, "Every man for them selves." Odysseus swam far away from the whirlpool waiting for it to finish to be so he could grab a piece of wood to float. He waited for a couple of minutes but it did not stop.

He got colder and colder. He shouted, "Any one out there?"
