We are learning to select appropriate grammar and vocabulary.

The Tudor period began in 1485 and ended in 1605. It was very challenging for Tudors as they had ruthless kings and queens but some sensitive ones too. But who was the most ~~glorious~~ ^{terrific} out of them all?

King Henry VIII

King Henry's reign ~~lasted~~ ~~started~~ started from 1509 and ~~ended~~ came to an end at his death (1547). When he became king, he became immensely obese and struggled to walk. King Henry had six wives, one only giving him a son and the others were prevented them in divorce or beheaded. As a leader, he was very strict and ~~disobedient~~ ^{disobedient} to his religion.

Queen Elizabeth I

Queen Elizabeth I's reign ~~started~~ began in 1558 and ~~it~~ ended in 1603. During her ~~reign~~ She was ~~x~~ the daughter of King Henry VIII and Anne Boleyn. Anne Boleyn was beheaded. This time in British History was called the 'Golden Age' as lots of people were wealthy and discovering new objects. Although she was a great ruler, she left important decisions ~~decision~~ decisions to the last minute which ~~x~~ made the majority of Tudors angry.

King Henry VII

King Henry VIII was the son of King Henry VII. King Henry VII ~~is~~ reigned from 1485 and ended in 1509. He was very shy and was ~~re~~ incredibly sensitive about ruling. He was the ~~x~~ first on the throne by slaying Richard III. Not many people like ~~to~~ ~~the~~ King Henry VII as he was a weak ruler.

So who is the best?

I think Queen Elizabeth I is the ~~x~~ greatest monarch as she was very kind but she did end the Tudor era which is good but bad at the same time. King Henry VII was very sensitive and King Henry VIII was ~~to~~ strict.
