We are learning to create Dialogue for effect

(ME)

One day, there was a ship travelling across the sea; that ship was my ship. The ship was so big, ^{grand} all of the gods were ^{afraid} scared of it. They would shout, "Oh no here it comes."

I was travelling across the seas with my three crew members: Poseidon, Relecton and Aphrodite. We were ^{enjoying} ^{our} having an exiting voyage across the Lemoron sea; there was not even ^{a cloud in the sky} a single storm to be seen. However, Poseidon was just walking out onto the front deck, when suddenly, he noticed a large brown ^{sack} sack, full of strong winds.

I had politely told all of my crew members, not to touch the sack as ^{something} something dangerous was inside it. Sadly, Poseidon ^P Poseidon did not listen. "Ha ha ha Odysseus will never find out, ^{I'm sure of it.}!" Poseidon looked at the bag with joy, thinking of all the wonderful things he could do with ^{his precious treasure.} the sack.

(P) Poseidon walked slowly over to the sack and carefully picked it up, and before anyone could stop him, Poseidon (S) suddenly let out a big gush of wind, he cried, "Now what to do with you." Then with a sharp swipe of his hands, the wind came rushing over to the ship and jolted it forwards and backwards, left and right. It was so strong it woke all of my crew members.

We came rushing out of our rooms shouting, "Poseidon, Stop you are going to sink the ship!" He ignored us and just kept on swishing the wind about. Just as the ship was about to tip over, a bright yellow light appeared in the sky and the clouds slowly moved away.

The bright π figure came down to us and rested on the water. We gazed at him in amazement. "Hello, I Zeus, the god of the sea, I am very disappointed with you Poseidon." We all glared at Poseidon in rage, and he looked terribly guilty.
