Shackleton's great set off!
by Philip

Yesterday, on 8th August 1919, the unknown became known. With some ~~precious~~ precious packing, Shackleton ~~he~~ and his crew have set off with excitement.

But weirdly enough, a stowaway had ~~he~~ snuck onto the boat. 19-year-old Percy Blackborow said, "I wanted to prove myself worthy."

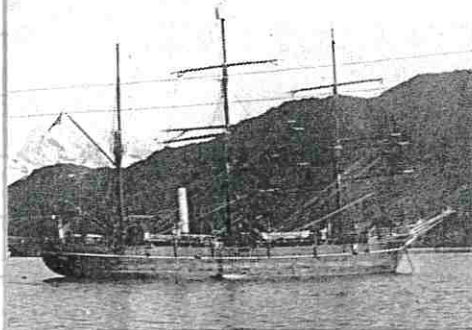

So far Shackleton has made a bond with the cook.

"He makes very nice food." said

Shackleton.

The stowaway was

The day before they set off, sixty-nine dogs were delivered to help pull the sleds full of people.

"If you don't care for them properly, they won't listen or pull anything," explained Shackleton. When they were packing, they had to make ^{sure} everything was alright. "We have to keep everything perfect or we won't survive." So that sums it up for today. We wish them good luck as they go on to be in the history books.
